

Global Equity Quarterly portfolio review

Highlights

- Series F and F4 return: -15.43% (see page 3 for returns for other periods)
- MSCI All Country World Index (ACWI) return (net dividends reinvested): -6.42%
- Global stocks declined amid the war in Ukraine, mounting inflation and a resurgence of COVID-19 infections in Europe and Asia. Commodity prices moved sharply higher, contributing to worldwide inflationary pressures. International sanctions sent Russian stocks, bonds and the ruble plummeting.
- The Canadian dollar appreciated against all reserve currencies including the U.S. dollar.

Commentary

- The mandate lagged the benchmark primarily due to unfavourable stock selection in financials, while select investments in the consumer discretionary and industrials sectors also detracted from results.
- Within financials, shares of EQT, one of Europe’s largest private equity firms, and Allfunds, a Spain-based investments funds distributor, were key detractors. Coupang, a Korea-based e-commerce service provider, proved challenging in the consumer discretionary sector.
- In industrials, TuSimple, a U.S.-based provider of technology for autonomous trucks, declined sharply with an announcement of a company management change; the holding was eliminated from the portfolio.
- Providing a measure of ballast were select companies in materials (Vale and First Quantum Minerals), and energy (Reliance Industries, Canadian Natural Resources, Var Energi and Lundin Energy, added during the period). Health care holdings UnitedHealth Group, Centene and Eli Lilly also contributed.
- Portfolio managers, reflecting the evolving fundamental backdrop, added new investments, particularly in the energy and financials sectors. These included Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and Apollo Global Management in financials and Cheniere Energy, Cenovus Energy and Var Energi within energy.
- As always, these positions are informed by a bottom-up, fundamental research process and developed through independent decisions across the portfolio management team. A long-term investment horizon allows them to take advantage of market dislocations and invest in companies they believe will prosper over a period of years.

Investment objective

Long-term growth of capital through investments primarily in common stocks, including growth-oriented stocks, on a global basis. Future income is a secondary objective.

Such waivers and absorptions may be terminated at any time, but can be expected to continue for certain portfolios until such time as such funds are of sufficient size to reasonably absorb all management fees and expenses incurred in their operations.

The management expense ratios for the portfolios are based on audited total expenses for the 12-month period ended December 31, 2021, and are expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net assets during the period. Actual MERs may vary. For the 12-month period ended December 31, 2021, the total net asset value of Series F and F4 was of sufficient size to reasonably absorb all management fees and expenses incurred in the operations of the fund attributable to the series, and therefore there were no waivers or absorptions during this period.
